

The Dangers of Blogging

- Don't give out where you go to school!
- Even if you think your in the privacy of your own home people can still stalk you if you give out to much info
- Giving out your number is the last thing you want to do on the computer. Once you give out that a predator won't leave you alone.
- If you feel you're in danger feel free to makeup a different name or school for yourself online.
- This is the type of thing you shouldn't say online "hi I am Elizabeth. I go to Bishop Mcdevitt and here is my number 215-632-55
- Whatever you do don't put pictures of yourself online. Predators will try to trick you into giving out to much info DON'T LET THEM!
-  Before you start blogging ask yourself these questions. Do I want millions of people to know everything about me and do I want to take the risk of being stalked.
