

Dangers for your future

Do you have online postings, pictures, and even a myspace? Do you think you're safe from predators? You may be safe now while you protect your personal information but as you get older you might give out information you don't mean to give out. Then you're not safe. Many children go missing in 1 year. Most of the disappearances are caused by predators on the internet.

Here are some ways to protect yourself.

- ✘ If someone on the internet keeps bugging you for personal information such as phone numbers stop chatting with them. They could be a predator.
- ✘ Never ever agree to meet someone you have chatted with on the internet. Unless you knew them before.
- ✘ Don't give out personal information or pictures of you and your friends.
